I've written from Christmas, hence why this is a Christmas one

"Maxie baby! Please!"

"No dwess mommy!"

"Princess, my love, we have to get going! Mikey's gonna be mad if we're late!"

"Hmph!" Max sat on the floor with a pout, crossing her arms. El sighed rubbing her head.

You see, after the well those 3 years, these kids were obviously traumatized. They had to find coping methods to deal with all the death. Will and Max both found comfort in age regression. Mike and El, their partners, were their caregivers.

"Max, baby, what if I get you that new hello kitty toy you wanted?"

Max looked up at this. "Toy?" She asked quitting her tantrum. El picked the smaller girl up and sat on with couch with Max on her lap. "Yes baby, a toy. Now please! Please just wear the dress!"

"My girls! How have you two been?"

"Good! Wiww?"

"He's coloring baby doll, you wanna color too?"

Max put her finger on her lip, tapping it softly. The girl nodded frantically, putting her hands in the air and making grabby hands at him. "Up!"

Mike laughed, picking the smaller girl and putting her on his hip. El smiled, walking to the kitchen. Mike set Max down next to Will and watched as the two squealed. They began to color with each other. El walked back into the Livingroom and handed Mike a mug of hot chocolate. "She wore a dress?"

"Promised her a toy, Steve wanted to take pictures so I wanted to at least try to-"

El was cut off by a loud scream then a sob. Both caregivers looked at each other before running off to their babies. Will was trying to wipe the paint water with a blanket while Max was crying. El picked her up quickly, kissing the top of her head. "What's wrong baby doll? What's wrong?"

Will ran over to his daddy, hugging his leg. "Someone's outside," he whispered to Mike. Max was holding her stuffed bunny tightly. "What?" Mike asked, picking up Will. El quickly pulled out her phone. "Okay okay, here's what we're going to do. Will, your gonna go with auntie El to the bathroom okay? El call Hop, tell him what's going on." El nodded as he passed her Will. "It's gonna be okay babies, we're gonna be safe." El whispered to them as she took them into the bathroom.

Mike pulled out his gun, going to the back door. "Whoever you are, come out!" He said walking out the door. Just then, two hooded figures jumped out at him. He screamed, dropping the gun. The two laughed, taking off their masks. "We got you good!"

"I'm going to kill you both!"

"Woah, chill Michael. Where are the babies?"

"Hiding in the bathroom with El! You scared the shit out of us!"

"Oh shit."

"Yeah oh shit! She's calling Hop!"

Dustin and Lucas looked at each other before running inside. They started banging on the bathroom door, begging her to stop. They heard two small cries.

"El! It's me and Dustin! Please don't call Hop!"

"Lucas?"

The door swung open. Will immediately ran to Mike, hugging him tightly. El walked out and put Max down. She slapped Lucas and Dustin across the face. Max giggled at her girlfriend. "You scared the fuck out of us! Max, Will don't say that." The two babies were giggling, already preparing to say it behind her back. "We're sorry! We have presents!"

Max and Will ran over to the two boys. They both picked them up, setting them in their laps as they sat on the couch. Dustin got out four horribly wrapped presents, giving 2 to Will and 2 to Max. The two babies ripped open their gifts. Max got a Lego set and a hello kitty stuffed animal while Will got a little art set and clay. El smiled at the two babies, "what do you say?"

"Thank you!" Both babies yelled, hugging the two boys. There was a soft knock on the front door. Mike walked over and opened it. Steve, Robin, Nancy, Jonathan, and Billy walked in. Max immediately ran over to Billy who picked her up. "Hello babies! You guys ready to go?" Steve said smiling. Max brushed the hair out of her face as she showed Billy her new toy. Jonathan picked up Will, blowing raspberries on his cheek. The smaller boy giggled. "Okay so we have two eight seaters! Girls in one car boys in the other?" Everyone nodded in agreement. Steve and Mike went to go put the babies booster seats in the cars. Everyone got in their cars. Mike decided to drive. Steve was next to him in the car, giving him directions. Dustin and Lucas sat next to Will, playing with him and making funny faces at him. Jonathan and Billy sat all the way in the back playing on their phones.

In the girls car, Nancy was driving while El sat next to her. Robin was in the back with Max. The small redhead was playing on El's phone while Robin kept poking her face. She was close to crying as she kept pushing Robin's hands away.

Mike and El got their babies out of the car. The huge group walked inside the photo place. They were there to get professional Christmas cards to send out before they left for Florida. After they took the pictures, they decided to take the babies out for ice cream then go to the park. El regretted putting Max in an expensive dress.
